The kids will be learning all about different types of zoo animals. They will be learning about bears, polar bears, pandas, and reptiles. During this time, the kids will be at their desk paying attention to the information given by their teacher. They will listen and be asked questions at the end. The children need to pay attention and not play around with their friends or toys to make sure they know the answers to the questions when they are asked.

Physical

The kids will be applying what they learned about bears and snakes by making a craft in the classroom. This allows them to use their creativity when doing the craft, but also follow any rules the teacher gives them. They will paste on pieces to their paper with glue and color inside the lines.

Social/Emotional

We will be learning about the zoo and various sights and sounds within it. A zoo is a place where you can see different kinds of animals! The kids will learn how families go there to see animals from all over the world. The zoo gives people a place to go on vacation and gives them the opportunity to see God's wonderful creation of animals.

This helps the kids to understand there are many more animals than we realize and that God created each special animal. The kids can visit the zoo and learn so much more about them all.

Physical

During recess time, the kids will be playing a game outside. They will pick their favorite kind of zoo animal and mimic it's sound and action. They will be pretending they are a part of the zoo and will be doing the sound and action of an animal of their choice.
