Along with learning all about the special animals that live in a zoo (last week), the kids will be learning about what a veterinarian and doctor do. They will learn that a veterinarian helps take care of animals when they are sick just as a doctor helps people when they are sick. Veterinarians specialize in animals so that when zookeepers are unable to care for animals who are not well, the veterinarian is there to help. God has made each animal special and unique, so it is very important that veterinarians know exactly what to do.

Physical

The kids this week will be making different crafts in the classroom. They will be creating a camel and bumble bee craft. They have learned a lot of information about these, so it will be fun to create this and make it come to life!

Social/Emotional

This week the children will be learning about many wonderful animals that live in Africa. We will also be talking about the special characteristics God gave the African animals. Since they live in the desert part of Africa, they need these special characteristics in order to survive. God made each one of these animals special and unique. By knowing this, it allows the children to recognize that not all animals are the same; just as they are not exactly the same as all their friends. Each person is made wonderfully in the image of God. This allows the kids to love and appreciate their friends and family just as God loves them.

Physical

The children will mimic the movements of various African animals. For example, they will try to copy an elephant's walk, a lion's roar, and a hippopotamus' yawn. All of these different actions will help the children recognize what the animals do on a daily basis.
