Artists-in-Classrooms History

Artists-in-Classrooms started in the 1990s with teachers and Principals calling AGCC to ask for artists to teach in their classrooms

2013: AIC grew from serving 10 classrooms to 40 classrooms

2013-2018: AIC has grown from 40 classrooms to 135 classrooms each year

AIC Philosophy

Placing professional artists into public school classrooms

Grounded in California VAPA Standards in four diversified art forms

Twelve weeks of 1-hour lessons

Arts lessons taught with Classroom Teacher participation

Arts Integration opportunities

Creative-thinking, process over product, and fun!

Model Arts School

Arts Education for an entire school, different art forms in each grade:

1st – Multi-arts

2nd – Dance

3rd – Visual Arts

4th – Music

5th – Creative Writing

Building lasting relationships with principals, classroom teachers, and credentialed arts teachers

Stabilizing and expanding Arts Education and Arts Integration

Partnerships between local arts nonprofits
