Message from the Board of Directors

The Cristo Rey High School Board of Directors is pleased to announce four new Board Members: Ralph Ochoa, Griselda Barajas, Barry Powell and Gilda Perez. We are very fortunate to have the breadth of experience our new board members bring the school in the areas of government, business, finance and community leadership.

The huge success of the students and the school administration has now caused us to look for ways to grow the school, both in terms of academics and facilities. We have listened to our parents and administrators who talk about several potential areas of growth. To begin with, our success has brought more applicants and a need for more space. While we look for ways to increase our space, we also need to continue to have a safe and secure campus. There are needs to upgrade our technology, our lab space, and to create more opportunities in the areas of music, art and drama.

So, for the past year we have been working hard through a facilities committee and finance committee to look for a larger venue...one that fits who we are as a school, one that fits the needs of our students and one that can be an investment and a good business decision for the future of Cristo Rey.

Our goal as a board for the upcoming year is simple: match the effort and fortitude of the children we are educating. If we can do that, based upon the experience we have on the board, we will have success. Over the course of the next several months stay tuned for some more news about our future facility. Thank you for all of your continued support.

~ Tom Johnson, Board Chair

Message from the President

- Sister Eileen Enright, RSM

An important component in today's learning is technology. Technology is all around us: it's how we work, it's how we live, it's how we communicate, it's how we socialize.

Cristo Rey was in desperate need of updated technology. The computer lab the students were using was originally set up in 2006 and they were still using the original desktop computers from 2006!

To continue to offer a college preparatory education and to provide the best service possible to our sponsors, we needed to upgrade the school's TECHNOLOGY. And to accomplish this we turned to you, our benefactors. During the 2013 Scholarship Dinner and Auction we asked our attendees to help us 'make a difference' and give us the resources to bring our students into the 21st century. And I am happy to say you did make a difference - we raised over $35,000 that evening for technology.

This summer, we purchased 90 Chromebooks and 41 Chromeboxes. We will be upgrading the servers and the internet service we use and we have made the switch to Google Aps. All of this is helping our students learn skills that will be needed as they continue through college and beyond. The skills they are learning are:

- Accessing resume builder programs that more and more companies will switch to.
- Practicing professional communication with email.
- Creating and editing media using audio, video, and pictures.
- Creating and editing word documents, presentations, and spreadsheets.

Students with these skills are better prepared for college and for the job market. Our students are the most important part of Cristo Rey and helping them continue to learn through our rigorous curriculum with today's technology will only allow them to soar to even greater heights.

Thank you for your continued support of all of our efforts at Cristo Rey. Our doors are always open and I extend an open invitation to you to stop by for a visit and see why we continue to be "The School that Works."

Local Couple Generously Supports Cristo Rey Mission

While the Cristo Rey mission is admired by many, for some it touches a special nerve and generates a real connection. Such is the case for Dr. Dennis Marks and his wife Nancy. While Nancy is passionate about supporting local education initiatives, Dennis says he can remember walking the same path as the Cristo Rey students. “I was in the same position as they are – working while also going to high school,” he explains. “It is not easy.”

Because of this special connection to the challenges faced by Cristo Rey Sacramento and its students, the Markses have given generously to the school. Working with Mercy Foundation, Dennis and Nancy directed $500,000 through their donor advised fund earmarked for a proposed new facility. They also have committed an additional $500,000 to Mercy Foundation over the next five years in support of Cristo Rey’s program enhancements. “We are so impressed by what they are doing here,” says Nancy. “We want to support them any way we can and to encourage them to continue the fabulous work they are doing. We want Cristo Rey to be able to help as many children as possible.”

That giving spirit toward children is something that Dennis felt very early on in his life. As a five year old growing up in New York City, he watched as the neighborhood doctor came to his apartment and saved his young cousin who was dying from pneumonia. Inspired to help children in need in the same way, Dennis worked at a medical lab while attending high school, where he and Nancy raised four children. He practiced medicine for 30 years before retiring in 1986.

Over the years, the Markses became active in the community and supported projects that focused on the priorities near and dear to their hearts. “My passions include our church, the developmentally disabled, pediatric hospitals, education and the arts,” says Nancy. For them, Cristo Rey and its mission to provide a college preparatory education to motivated students with limited financial means was a natural choice. “My parents were immigrants from Greece,” recalls Dennis. “No one in my family had graduated from college before, but they always supported me.”

Dennis and Nancy hope that through their gift, more students will have access to the remarkable program available at Cristo Rey and that the resources available there will be in line with the very best schools in the area. “These kids have such ability but they face serious challenges,” says Nancy. “We just want to help them get the quality education they need and deserve.”

Work-Study: Testimonials

Jose more than meets the needs of the Dignity Health Privacy Office for the Greater Sacramento - San Joaquin Service area. He tends to exceed at anything he is tasked with and comes up with solid solutions that are beyond his years. He does all this with a professional manner that is positive and bright and is always eager to learn real life work experiences. Jose is very social and knows more people in the office than the rest of us in the department. He has a smile and a polite greeting for everyone.

I can talk about him for hours. He is truly an asset to the department. His parents must be proud.

Gina Cox, CHPS
GSSJSA Privacy Manager
Dignity Health

“Work Study has helped me to see many different aspects of being a student and a worker by making me organize everything differently than before.”

Jose, Class of 2014

For those of you who had the opportunity to join us at the 2013 Scholarship Dinner & Auction in May, you might remember a special young lady who stood up in front of the crowd of over 500 and spoke to you about her dreams for the future. This is just a snip-it of what she said:

“If you are wondering what my future plans are... I would like to graduate from Stanford University and receive my degree in pre-law, then move on to law school. I will try and become a successful prosecuting attorney. In fact, in the future I would like to have a chance to sit where you are right now and give back to the school that will continue to teach me so much.”

Leena, Class of 2016 is on her way to realizing that dream. This year, she is working at Matheny Sears Linkert & Jaime law firm.

“Cristo Rey, the school that works. Six simple words that don’t come close to describing the Work-Study program. Our firm has had the privilege of sponsoring over 30 students during the 7 years we have been involved. Without exception, each of the students we have worked with are bright, ambitious, and eager to learn. They come to us as young and quiet freshman and leave as mature and poised seniors ready to pursue their education at the collegiate level. The honor is all ours.”

Jazmin Arango, Class of 2010

It seems that just yesterday I graduated from Cristo Rey High School but that was 3 years ago! Now, I am very excited to say that I will be graduating from the University of San Francisco in May 2014 with a Bachelor's degree in Nursing. I am grateful that I was part of the first graduating class of Cristo Rey. I feel that my high school experience helped me succeed in college. I am thankful that Cristo Rey gave me the opportunity to intern at Mercy General Hospital because now I am a confident nursing student because of the previous experience I had at Cristo Rey. After I graduate my plan is to work as a Registered Nurse in my community helping those in need and I would also like to continue my education and get a Master's degree.

Leo Jacobo, Class of 2010

When I first entered Cristo Rey I was the quiet kid, the kid that would never raise his hand to answer a question. Over time Cristo Rey helped me grow out of my comfort zone.

My freshman year in college at UC Riverside, I was put on the deans list for my great grades. In my first 3 years at UC Riverside, I have:

- Joined an engineering club called SHPE (Society of Hispanic Professional Engineers)
- Had an opportunity to meet with all the major companies in my field (Computer Engineering)
- Attended the MESA leadership conference, which was an honor because I was one of the 10 selected to go from a class of 70.
- Received two scholarships from the National Science Foundation.
- Selected to become a mentor for new freshmen and they are currently doing awesome in their classes!
- Work as an ITEST (Innovative Technology Experiences for Students and Teachers) mentor. My work there is basically helping high school students to create a program for elementary school students teaching them about math, science and engineering. I've been working as an ITEST mentor for 2 years and I love it.
- In the summer of 2012 I received an internship with one of the companies I want to work for, Intel.

I couldn't have done any of this without the help of Cristo Rey.

For any graduates and future graduates of Cristo Rey, my advice to you is to stick with it. Have a goal for yourself, something that will give you the strength to keep going. The drive to continue in school should overcome the struggle you're going to face.

Nick Ramirez, Class of 2010 ~ A semester in the Middle Kingdom

In the spring of 2013, I had the amazing opportunity to study abroad in Beijing, China. Never would I have imagined that 5 months of my life I would live in another country, let alone China.

Upon arrival I entered a new world, a culture vastly different than anything I had ever experienced. I was no longer back home in the comfort of the United States, but I was in China: the most rewarding and exciting adventure of my life.

For five months I was able to experience a land and culture filled with rich history and even richer people. I did not speak the language well, nor did I fit in, but I was welcomed everywhere I went. I was invited into homes, treated the best I have ever been by strangers. I learned to write and speak mandarin, I went on a two week excursion through rural China, stayed in huts with no running water or electricity, ate foods that tested my stomach, hiked the Great Wall, and even experienced the future which is Shanghai. But above all it is the life lessons I learned that I will take with me forever. I learned that the people of the world are not that different. Ultimately, in the end we all just want to be happy and live good lives with people who bring out that happiness. That is what I will hold dear and close forever. That is what China taught me.

Currently, I am finishing up my senior year at Loyola University Chicago with a major in Advertising and Public Relations, along with minors in Environmental Stewardship & Leadership and Asian Studies. I will graduate in May 2014.

Message from the Principal - Andreas Agos

As part of the accreditation process through the Western Association of School and Colleges and the Western Catholic Educational Association, schools articulate their fundamental learning goals. These Expected School-wide Learning Results (ESLRs) guide development and implementation of all elements of the education program: academics, extra-curricular activities, work-study, and emotional and spiritual guidance. Cristo Rey Sacramento's ESLRs provide a concise statement of who we are and what we strive to accomplish.

Expected Schoolwide Learning Results (ELSRs)

Cristo Rey Sacramento is a community committed to

- Understanding the core beliefs of the Catholic faith; making ethical decisions consistent with Gospel values; building a just world by serving others; fostering a personal relationship with God through prayer and worship.
- Encouraging academic achievement; developing critical, creative, and disciplined thought; taking responsibility for one's own education; fostering perseverance; promoting lifelong learning.
- Demonstrating the skills and habits needed for achievement in the workplace; understanding the requirements and opportunities of today's economy; appreciating the value of high standards and hard work.
